 - ◆ This week's section of the week is Title IX which focuses on accountability. There have been many conversations recently about how we hold other members of our branch, and others, accountable to their duties. This title outlines the procedures for going about the formal reprimand process, called a Censure. If you have accountability concerns, feel free to reach out to me to talk about how to approach a conversation of holding that member accountable or if you would like information on how to pursue a more formal resolution. All members of Student Government, no matter position or branch, are to be held accountable - the responsibility to address issues lies with those who are aware of it.
