 1. Sen. Richard
 - a. Senior in Econ, previous FAO VC from this Semester. I did start working with the previous Chair to be prepared. Main reason I wanted to run was to be more knowledgeable about Fiscal policy. To be the person that other senators can rely on and ask questions of. Create a fiscal team of knowledgeable senators to outreach with RSOs. Also want to delegate more throughout the Committee. Previously the work has been centralized with the Chair and Vice Chair, but I think everyone should have a chance to be involved.

2. Sen. Millington

- a. Background, I was in 52nd Session in FAO for the first semester, until I switched to CRT and became chair for the 2nd half of the session. Being chair was valuable, saw Title VIII, and how being a fiscal Chair works. I met with Hannah, and these are the initiatives. Communication is key, I want to have an open door policy. Communicating with A&SF Office, RSOs, etc. I want to hold a mock meeting for new members to see the process. Create cheat sheets to ease the process of funding RSOs., and will announce committee member of the month. Also want to Table, reach out to RSOs.

iii. Questioning

1. Magdadaro - How do you plan to work with other Fiscal Chairs?

- a. Richard - I have in the past worked with ORS, and want to continue to have them be active in the committee.
- b. Millington - Working diligently with ORS Chair and Committee Rep so they are knowledgeable about FAO Policy.

2. Morey - Plans to reach out to RSOs?

- a. Millington - One of the main three initiatives is exposure. Getting info to RSOs is key, finding new ways to get that information out, tabling at RSO fairs, social media, etc. Making sure spending policy stays up to date, and keeping accurate information out in the public.

- b. Ricard - Creating a fiscal team and Senators willing to go to RSOs, meeting them where they are at, educated on fiscal policy. RSOs are returning, so what we are doing is working, but need to reach more.
3. Holmes - What issues have you run into on FAO or other Fiscal, and how did/will you answer them?
 - a. Richard - Biggest issue I saw was timeline discrepancies. We have a set timeline, but have the ability to bend those rules. That made it confusing for RSOs as well as our own Senators. Want to be more strict on keeping the set timeline for clarity.
 - b. Millington - Process can be daunting for new RSOs, people who haven't gone through before. Saw as chair lots of confusion on process. Being Chair gives you lots of opportunities to clear up confusion before it gets to Committee.
4. Spaulding - How will you make sure to hold yourself/Committee accountable?
 - a. Millington - If you aren't holding yourself accountable, everything else falls apart. Very organized person, uses a planner to keep track of dates and to-do lists. Always open to constructive criticism from the Committee, want to hear from you all.
 - b. Richard - We all ran to be here, so we should all hold ourselves accountable. Hopes Committee would be able to come to him to address concerns and give feedback. Want everyone to get involved, which will help them feel accountable to the committee.
5. Foster - How will you handle disgruntled students in Committee, especially directed at Chair?
 - a. Richard - Eye of the hurricane, very good at staying calm when others are chaotic. Understand where the student is coming from, what they are experiencing.

- b. Millington - Also calm when situations occur. In CRT when we ran out of money, students were frustrated about not being able to get funded. Watching the current chair handle that situation stayed with her.

iv. Debate

1. Morey - Both Candidates very qualified, as a new Senator without huge context, supporting Richard. The main initiative that stood out was creating the Fiscal team.
2. Foster - Really hard to choose. Supporting Senator Richard. As FAO Vice Chair, he stepped up for a role that no one else wanted. He knows fiscal policies well, and caught issues with allocations that no one else did.
3. Spaulding - Speaking in favor of Millington, reviewing her initiatives, one thing that stood out was being willing to hold a mock meeting, to make sure we all understand the process. Also wants to table and to do outreach.
4. Magdaro - Difficult decision, worked with both of the Senators. Supporting Millington, her initiatives resonated with me, seeing how FAO functions and should be led, her initiatives addressed those effectively. Outreach is specifically important, mock meetings are also very important.

v. Vote

1. 3-7-3, Chair Millington is elected.
