Open Forum-

- a. Borg (he/him): Trying to get into senate hopefully soon, have an initiative I want to pass prior to that. Init to have 2 sg sponsor speakership series. Collaboration with respective schools, in politics and minorities in stem? Goal to promote minority students within those fields and also to try and encourage an understanding of what it is like to be a minority working in those fields where we currently fall short systematically and where our strengths lie. This of course could include speakers that are current professors at UCF or other speakers that are professionals in their field. Yesterday posed to Womxn's caucus, and will be going to others, and want to pose to LGBTQ caucus as a queer person myself.
 - i. Minorities in STEM: College of Sciences and CECS
 - ii. Politics in Public Admin: SPSIA(?) and School of Public Admin
 - iii. Hameed: For 1 for stem, willing to add College of Medicine?
 - iv. Borg: yes absolutely, don't know all of the colleges that could fall under these categories, this is just a starting point, answer to any of that type is more than likely yes
 - v. Hameed: College of Public Admin

- vi. Borg: legal studies program and a few other programs are that. Instead of saying school of public admin, instead ccie as well as spsia
- vii. Hameed: you might want to consider after this doing a graduate study one
- viii. Borg: actually, have a list of several other series that I want to bring to senate, however these two I believe to be specifically important bc of recent events. Want to run these as something to get started and how to work with these school and how to run something like this instead of jumping into a ton of them. However, I am interested in Graduate studies.
- ix. Carter: give me some time to think about it
- x. Hameed: Where has this been brought to and where is it going to be brought to in the future?
- xi. Borg: 2nd caucus so far, Womxn's caucus first. Hispanic and Black caucus. IAPI caucus(??). Do plan to go to all the caucuses to get ideas and gauge interest. After doing that, I plan to go to full floor of the senate.
- xii. Borg: Are there any sitting senators within the College of Medicine?
- xiii. Hameed: I will check -->
