college of business as best as they can. Always hears complaints from people at their college and wants to improve that experience.

    3. Questioning:

f. Courts: What committees do you want to join?

g. Jolicoeur: GAP if something opens up, FAO, LJR, open to hearing about all committees.

h. Courts: How do you feel your experience would help these committees?

    i. Jolicoeur: I wouldn't know better than anyone else, but I've had experience in committees and talking to local politicians. I feel comfortable debating and finding common ground among colleagues

j. Gaudio: Did you apply for this year's election?

k. Jolicoeur: Yes

l. Morrisette: What grievances do you hear from COBA students?

m. Jolicouer: REAL classes, not enough staffing for advising, nationwide voices heard

n. Escobar: Do you know your senatorial duties?

o. Jolicouer: Must sit on one committee, come to senate meetings, represent the 1k students in my college, represent RSOs

p. Debate:

q. Beneche: In favor, very qualified.

r. Courts: In favor of the candidate, qualified and knows what he wants to do. Has talked to his constituents, don't see why we shouldn't vote in favor.

s. Gaudio: Well spoken, free on wednesdays from 1-2 so I'm voting in favor.

t. Escobar: Knows what he wants to do, so I'll be voting in favor.

Hopes to prepare students for a demanding career after college. Initiatives include election visual accesssiblity (sandwich boards rather than posters), increasing candidate turnout and interactions through social media, inviting first-year students to vote in student elections, changing the voter interface from myUCF to Webcourses, implementing social media trends to increase voter turnout.

3. Questioning:

v. Brown: What do you think of this year's theme?

w. Colon: It's cute, it seems effective.

x. Gaudio: To Supervisor Brown, when will this term expire?

y. Brown: Full 2 years

z. Gaudio: To Colon, why using Webcourses? Have you given much thought?

aa. Colon: I was mostly thinking of the students, and ease of use. Students are more familiar with the Webcourse interface and myUCF can be confusing for students.

bb. Brown: Can you name 2 statutes relevant to your position?

cc. Colon: I believe Title XI had a lot of statutes...EC must make sure candidates don't violate any election statutes, have to work a minimum 10 hours a week.

dd. Debate:

ee. Gaudio: In favor, I do disagree with using Webcourses to vote, but I believe the voting initiative is great and can be workshopped.

ff. Brown: Love this candidate, has a lot to learn but has the basic knowledge required for a commissioner.

gg. Escobar: In favor of the candidate, they have great experience and fellowship on campus.

e. Lazo: I'm more worried about the publicity of the party ship, may be a liability to UCF

f. Escobar: Not sure, because people are associated with the political RSOs
