 - 1. Speech
 - a. Gaudio: Bill component of the pair of legislation before you. It strikes the appendices from Title VIII. Those will be brought up in the resolution. It also takes the fiscal quarters out of the appendices and puts them in Title VIII. Also strikes out 805 and 806.
 - b. Gaudio: Resolution aspect is taking the appendices that got stricken from title viii and placing them in senate rules. These policies are things that other people are looking at than just us. This makes it easier for them. The actual text other than the fiscal quarters is unchanged
 - 2. Questioning
 - a. Varela: Is this mostly procedural
 - i. Gaudio: for the most part
 - b. Varela: What is being moved around

- i. Gaudio: The only things being moved are the appendices.
 - c. Kaufman: Was the motivation to put caps in senate rules to have more jurisdiction over them or was that an afterthought.
 - i. Gaudio: That was the primary driving force, I noticed how we changed the policy in the middle of the year last year. Legibility was something I saw after.
 - d. Greene: Why was the wording changed from bills to resolutions.
 - i. Gaudio: Under senate rules it would require resolutions
 - e. Greene: would fiscal bills become fiscal resolutions
 - i. Rose: I don't know about the actual RSO funding bills, I think the funding cap would
 - ii. Gaudio: the intention is fiscal bills stay the same, but changing the policies is a resolution
 - f. Varela: Are the policies in there from the business office or are those ours?
 - i. Rose: I think they are mostly guidelines from the business office, but we have final control over them.
 - ii. Gaudio: Yes, I believe so as well.
3. Debate
- a. Kaufman: Conflicted, leaning towards yes. I like the idea of moving our caps into senate rules. Only concern is how much content is moving. Would like to hear from new senators on how they have experienced going through title viii. Concern is moving it in two locations would make people dig through.
 - b. Varela: Also conflicted. I share the concern about separating fiscal information. Also, in preparation I did some research on how our government handles things like this. I think rules should be processes that we follow rather than substantive things.
 - c. Greene: When I work with RSOs it is easier to go through Title VIII. Dividing could convolute the process.
 - d. Rose: I like the changes moving the caps into senate rules as well. The other things I am indifferent on, so I would be overall in favor.
